

Abstract

There are provided a novel process for the production of an isoquinoline derivative having an inhibitory action for I_{f} current; a novel benzamide derivative or a salt thereof used for the production process; and a process for the production of the benzamide derivative or a salt thereof.